PREFACE

The Historical Records Survey was initiated on a nation-wide basis in January 1936 under the direction of Dr. Luther H. Evans. The purpose of the project is to discover, preserve, and make accessible basic source material for research in the history of the United States. The church archives inventory is one of the five important phases of the program.

The inventorying of church records is in progress in Northern California in some six counties; work has been completed in additional counties. Inventories of church archives, by denomination, will be issued by the project from time to time. Meanwhile, it has been found by the editorial staff that a list of churches and religious organizations in each county is essential to insure complete coverage. Therefore, such lists have become a necessary tool in the editorial office.

The list of churches and religious organizations in Alameda County was begun several months ago, and has been enlarged and elaborated constantly, particularly by the addition of connectional bodies, for the purpose of accurate classification of individual congregations. This list has proved of such intrinsic value, and so many requests for a copy have been received from ministers, that this Directory of Churches and Religious Organizations in Alameda County, California has been mimeographed in a limited number of copies for free distribution to libraries, churches and religious organizations.

Approximately five hundred congregations and religious organizations are covered by this directory; and by no means do we believe it to be absolutely complete. Such a list is necessarily subject to constant revision. Additions and corrections will be welcomed by the State Supervisor of the Historical Records Survey Project, 49 Fourth Street, San Francisco.

It should be noted that the directory covers only Alameda County, and not the East Bay Metropolitan area. Therefore, a number of rural churches are included, while a number of churches in the East Bay Church Federation and other regional associations are omitted because they are situated in Contra Costa County.

The order of listing and grouping denominations follows in general the United States Census of Religious Bodies of 1926, with such changes of names and affiliations as have since occurred as shown in the current Yearbook of American Churches, and with the addition of new or local groups of churches which appear in neither. We have attempted to include all religious organizations in the county, no matter how small, which have trained leadership and a regular place of meeting, particularly those which are incorporated locally and have a continuous local history. We have omitted a number of nationally known organizations, such as Christian Endeavor, the Oxford Groups, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, and others, because, although they are active in the county, their leadership is largely lay and constantly changing, and because they do not have a permanent address or secretariat.

We have used the caption "officer," to head the column of names of ministers and denominational officials, instead of giving the title. Most of the pastors of churches are fully ordained and legally entitled to the use of "Reverend." However, because some do not yet have this status, denominations vary in their requirements for full ministerial standing, and some bodies reject the title and use instead "Elder," "Bishop," or "Chairman," we have omitted the title "Reverend" before the names of pastors and officers. Where such a title as "Rabbi," "President," or "Assistant," has been necessary to clarify the status of the person, it has been placed after the name. Telephone numbers of the officers have been purposely omitted in this directory, due to the suggestion of ministers that this information might be used for commercial purposes, to their annoyance.

The compilation of this directory is the work of a staff of five workers under the supervision of Reverend Ernest W. Houlding, Church Records Editor of the Survey in Northern California: Reverend Max A. Clark, Avery C. Moore, Aime Dugas, MerCeil Mason, and Ann Patterson. These workers have been engaged in the compilation only as one of the several phases of the church records inventory program. The State Supervisor of the project has appreciated their conscientious efforts to make the directory as complete and as accurate as possible. Mr. Houlding and his associates not only have searched every available list of organizations in the county, but they have also made many personal calls during their own time, evenings and Sundays, in order to follow some clue to a hitherto unlisted organization.

The Northern California project staff has profited in all phases of its work by the constructive advice and criticism of the central office of the project in Washington, D.C. This directory in manuscript form was edited by Donald A. Thompson, Assistant Archivist.

Ministers and denominational officials, too numerous to mention here, have been most courteous and helpful in compiling this information. We acknowledge with very sincere thanks their interest in the work and the time and advice which they have given so freely.

The mimeographing, and distributing of this Directory have been made possible by the co-sponsorship of several individuals and institutions in Alameda County and in San Francisco, whose contributions have supplied the necessary materials. To these co-sponsors we extend our sincere appreciation.

To the Department of State of California, official sponsor of the Northern California Historical Records Survey Project, and to the Berkeley Board of Education, co-sponsor of the project, we are particularly indebted. The project, formerly a unit of Federal No. 1 Project, was compelled to find local sponsorship to conform with the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1939, which discontinued all Federally sponsored projects. The Department of State sponsors the entire program in Northern California; the Berkeley Board of Education contributes very adequate and comfortable space, furniture and utilities for the state editorial staff of the church records unit of the project.
